

John J. Fry, Ph. D.

Department of History
270 Vander Velde Hall
Trinity Christian College
6601 West College Drive
Palos Heights, IL 60463

2221 West 119th Place
Blue Island, IL 60406

(708) 239-4863
john.fry@trnty.edu

TEACHING POSITIONS

Assistant Professor of History, Trinity Christian College, Palos Heights, IL	Fall 2003 -
Visiting Assistant Professor of History, Simpson College, Indianola, IA	Fall 2002 - Summer 2003
Adjunct Professor of History, Kirkwood Community College, Cedar Rapids, IA	Summer 2002
Graduate Instructor of History, University of Iowa, Iowa City, IA	Fall 1998 - Spring 2002

PUBLICATIONS

The Farm Press, Reform, and Rural Change, 1895-1920. New York: Routledge, forthcoming 2005.
“‘Good Farming - Clear Thinking - Right Living’: Midwestern Farm Newspapers, Social Reform, and Rural Readers in the Early Twentieth Century.” Agricultural History 78 (Winter 2004): 34-49.
Review of Eric Foner’s Who Owns History? In Fides Et Historia 35 (Summer/Fall 2003): 180-182.
“The Rural Church and the Midwestern Farm Press in the Early Twentieth Century.” Woodrow Wilson National Symposium 2000, http://www.woodrowwilson.org/content/articles/48130001/file_2200.pdf

PRESENTATIONS (Selected)

“History as a Tutor to Lead us to Christ: Outrageous Idea or Modest Proposal?” Biennial Meeting of the Conference on Faith and History, Holland, Michigan, 13 October 2004.
“What Farmers Read and Liked: Reading in the Rural Midwest at the Turn of the Twentieth Century.” Newberry Library Rural History Seminar, Reading in Rural America, Chicago, Illinois, 8 May 2004.
“Trinity, History, John Sanborn, and Me.” Trinity Christian College, Palos Heights, Illinois, 8 October 2003.
“The Social Gospel, the Country Life Movement, and Recommendations for the Rural Church: Wallaces’ Farmer as a Case Study.” OAH Midwestern Regional Conference, Ames, Iowa, 5 August 2000.
“Nancy C. Wallace and Romantic Agrarianism.” Missouri Valley History Conference, Omaha, Nebraska, 13 March 1998.

EDUCATION

2002	Ph. D., History, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa Dissertation: Reading, Reform, and Rural Change: The Midwestern Farm Press, 1895 to 1920
1997	M. A., History, Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
1992	M. L. S., Library Science, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
1991	B. A., History, Summa Cum Laude, Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania

LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION - Available upon request