

Measure3d.bas

Description: This program takes 2 data points from the user and calculates horizontal distance, vertical distance, slope distance, and slope between the points. The basis for these calculations is horizontal is considered in the x-y plane and vertical distance is the difference in z coordinates.

Instructions: Run the macro and after the 2 data points are input, a dialog box containing the results will display.

Written by tshoemaker@yahoo.com, see program source code for details.