FIRE SONGFEST

"Bar Bill" to Speak at Meeting Saturday Night

Scouts will make the Harbs' their own for the night of 20. It will be the occasion of the annual Mid-Fairfield County Camporee and at least 20 scouts representing troops from the county will have a 24 hour experience in Wilson. This is the first time the Camporee has been held in Wilton. It will be the second year which has registered two parties for the outing. Philip Benton, of the Wolf Patrol, will be in his campmates Russell E. Robert Studwell, James Kenneth Lawson, Billy Charles Abbott and Milson. The Bob White patrol will be under the leadership of Donald and includes George Studwell, Morehouse, Ben Thomas Gilbert, Charles and Christopher Collier. The meeting will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. until 10 p.m. the boys will dress in boy scout fashion of doors. There will be a session Saturday evening to which the public is invited. The boy scouts will sing and "Green Bar Bill" will be the Green Bar Bill who has the handbook for patrol and who is well known for his which appear in "Boy's

Holland Byrne Starts Air Training

Holland Byrne of Drum is a member of the class of the University of Virginia, and is preparing for naval aviation flight at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C. last week. He will have three months of preliminary instruction, followed by further study and advance training for the next three months of work. After successful completion of the courses, he will be commissioned as a lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve, and be assigned to the fleet.

Yew Reminds Host Of Spotters Vigils

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Plant Yew at Appleyard

Because of airplanes a yew tree is growing at Appleyard, the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Mason on Bald Hill. It is at Appleyard that spotters kept up their 24 hour a day watch on the skies during the winter months before the Bald Hill post had been built. Mr. and Mrs. Mason kept their garage open and heated during the cold season so that spotters might be sheltered from the icy blasts from December to April.

In appreciation of the Masons' hospitality, the spotters decided that Appleyard should have a token of remembrance. The newly planted yew tree is their gift.

Miss Helen Howard, spotting captain, who sponsored the idea recently received the following letter from Mr. and Mrs. Mason in which they thanked her and each plane spotter for the gift. It read in part:

"Because it is famed for strength and durability, we think the yew is a fit memento of the fidelity and devotion to duty of the plane spotters of the town of Wilton, whose example is in the best American tradition.

"In our minds the tree will always signify these things and we shall regard it with pride and pleasure, remembering that we too had a small part in worthy deeds."

Eight Blood Donors To Norwalk Hospital

Eight blood donors out of a dozen who were originally signed up went to Norwalk Hospital last Friday to make their contributions to the New York Red Cross Plasma Unit.

Many of those who were unable to go Friday are commuters who will make their contributions in New York City. The Wilton donors went in two carloads. The first group had its appointment at 2:30 p. m. and the second at 5 p. m.

The eight donors were Miss Emily Stevenson, Mrs. Ernest Stock, Mrs. George Havell, Mrs. Herbert B. Whitman, Mrs. Tilford W. Miller, Mrs. G. Evans Hubbard, Mrs. Grover H. Bradley and Mrs. J. R. Bodenmiller.

District Representatives To Hold Hearing Saturday To Seek Solution to Town's Rubbish Disposal Problem

Nursery School Graduates Eight

Little Folks Receive Blue Barns to Wear on Sleeves

Graduates of the Wilton Cooperative Nursery School may wear a blue barn on their sleeves.

At the graduation exercises, last Friday, eight boys and girls who had completed their nursery school training and who qualified for promotion to kindergarten, received their diplomas from Mrs. James Farr, III. Rolled up within the scroll, which was tied with yellow and green ribbons, was a blue barn, silhouetted in felt, which may be sewn on a sweater. The diploma explained it all.

On each scroll the name of the graduate was inscribed, followed by the words:

"Because he (or she) went to the nursery school in the barn this year and will go to kindergarten next year he (or she) may wear this barn on his (or her) sleeve."

The eight graduates are Billy Karstens, Butch Smith, Carol Hesse, Terry Farr, Mary Knauth, Carol Benton, Dael Gilroy and Paul Island.

Graduation exercises took place in the playroom in the barn on the Knauth property. The entire

Wilton Marching Toward USO Goal

Wilton is marching with rapid strides toward its U. S. O. goal of $1,500. Incomplete returns this week revealed that since June 4 receipts of nearly $800 had been recorded, with many unrecorded contributions still to be added. The records also show that more than 75 Wilton townfolk have made these contributions.

In addition to the list on page 8, many other names are already in the hands of members of the U. S. O. Committee. These will be published next week.

Hollister to Give Recital on Sunday

Horace M. Hollister will give an organ recital at St. Matthew's Church next week Friday evening. This will be the first time the new church organ will be used for concert purposes.

Mr. Hollister will play the music of Bach, Caspar Franck, Vierne and Rousseau. There will also be compositions by Corelli, Buxtehude, Dvorak, Stebbins, Pietro Von and Karg-Elert.

In an effort to find a generally acceptable plan for the disposal of Wilton's rubbish, the committee appointed by the first selectman has asked for suggestions. This public hearing will be held at the Town Hall Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5. Then the committee will hold an executive session to consider the ideas presented.

What the committee would especially welcome would be the offer of a location for a dump to which the neighbors have no objection.

Other topics that may come up at the hearing include:

- Do you object to the present system?
- Must you have a collector remove your rubbish?
- Could you separate the garbage from dry materials?
- Can collectors be licensed to compel such separation?
- Would a dump where only dry materials are burned be objectionable?
- Can wet garbage be used to feed pigs or produce manure?
- Is it possible to consider an incinerator now?
- Can the use of an outside incinerator be secured?
- Where should the committee look for further information?
- Anyone having an answer to these or allied questions will be welcomed by the committee on Saturday. The collectors them-
