

Sonnet 2

Faust's Sonnet

Inside this velvet night at least I sleep
But I will live forever on these lips,
And when the demons come for me, don't weep.
They rend my body with their sharp spear tips
But mind and heart will always remain here
Forever in the light of your beauty.
No pain will my heart ever know or fear -
Alone you have restored my soul to me.
My heart will be a gift I give to you
And when the burning flames consume my whole
My remedy will be to think on you
And then sweet bliss will be in my control.
 Where ever place they take me here tonight
 Within your eyes, I've seen all Heaven's light.