

Sonnet 40

Brandi's Sonnet

Smilies here smilies everywhere.
There're smilies that giggle very much
There're smilies that come with their own hair
There're smilies that are soft to the touch.
My face would hurt if I smiled that long
I guess I'd get real tired of it, too.
I suppose smilies are very strong
Do not anger them, whatever you do
I think a smiley could take you out
And keep smiling after it's all done
That way no one would ever figure out.
I think that's why the smilies are fun.
 You know, happy people live forever
 That's the smilies only endeavor.