Randy "Elvis" Friskie

The sensational Randy Friskie recreates the excitement of the "king of Rock n' Roll" - Elvis Presley, in a spine tingling performance. The magical atmosphere Friskie creates brings the King to life for a whole generation of people too young to have experienced Elvis when he was alive, and for legions of people who remember the King.

Randy Friskie is the only Elvis tributor who has mastered representing Elvis in all three of the distinct and exciting stages of his career: the hip swiveling Hillbilly Cat of 1956, the lean, sexy, leather clad Elvis of the "1968 Comeback Special" and the ultimate superstar, Elvis in Concert during early 1970.

Randy has appeared in numerous radio and television commercials and starred in a movie entitled "It's Only Make Believe." He has spent time in Las Vegas and Reno, performing with "Legends In Concert" and "American Superstars". He has also appeared with many well known celebrities such as Pat Boone, Bob Hope, Mickey Gilley, Bobby Curtola, Donna Presley (Elvis' cousin), Sam Orbison (Roy's brother), and Bill Burke (editor of "Elvis World" and Elvis' former publicist).

Steve Hillis as "Garth Brooks"

Growing up in a musical family, it's easy to see why Steve Hillis feels at home on a stage. Taking up the guitar at the age of 10, he was raised on Old Rock n' Roll, Canadian Rock n' Roll, and Country. After forming a band with his brother and two other skilled musicians, they left their hometown on Vancouver Island and toured Western Canada.

It wasn't until they met fellow performer Randy Friskie that things fell into place. After touring extensively across North America with the worlds number 1 Elvis tribute, Steve and Randy wanted to expand their repertoire.

A friend suggested that Steve impersonate Garth Brooks - it seemed a natural. Steve quickly mastered the look, stance, gestures and vocal styling of Garth and soon became an outstanding addition to the show. "His stage presence and delivery are phenomenal." - PEP Communications.

Steve is currently dazzling audiences as the "King of Country", Garth Brooks, in nightly
