Randy 'Elvis' Friskie's tribute to the gospel songs of Elvis Presley

Randy "Elvis" Friskie has been hailed as "The World's Best Elvis Tribute Act". He has enviably mastered Elvis in the three exciting stages of his career, the fabulous 50's, the spectacular 60's, and the sensational 70's. And now Randy is returning to his roots in revealing a personal side of his life and the life of Elvis in a spectacular Gospel Concert.

Randy seemed destined to be a performer. Born into a musical family, he began singing in his father's country band at an exceptionally young age. A 12 year old Randy Friskie experienced the thrill of a lifetime seeing Elvis perform live in concert - thus changing Randy's life forever.

By the age of 17, Randy began performing Elvis songs in a band he formed with his brother. Audience response was overwhelming, leading Randy to audition for the "Elvis, Elvis, Elvis" show. Randy was selected over dozens of applicants. While appearing in that show, Randy was approached by Expo '86 officials asking him to create his own show for the World's Fair.

Performing at Expo '86 to sold out audiences for seven weeks straight, Randy's career was launched and he never looked back. Randy starred in the movie, "It's Only Make Believe", and has appeared in numerous television and radio commercials. He has performed in Las Vegas and Reno with "Legends In Concert", and "American Superstars." He has also appeared with Bob Hope, Pat Boone, Bobby Curtola, Mickey Gilley, Donna Presley (Elvis'

Cousin), Sam Orbison (Roy's Brother), and Bill Burke (editor of "Elvis World" and former publicist.)

Randy 'Elvis' Friskie's tribute to the gospel songs of Elvis Presley

The atmosphere of warmth that Randy creates captivates audiences with an evening to remember. Obviously humble, the soft spoken Friskie states, "I prefer to think of myself as someone performing a tribute to the greatest performer that has lived." However, in the presentation of some of Elvis' favourite Gospel songs, Randy is attempting to provide something with a much deeper meaning than just an Elvis tribute.

Not many people realize that there was a spiritual dimension to Elvis that influenced his singing and was reflected in his love for the Gospel songs. These songs reflected a faith and a belief system that Elvis enjoyed as a result of his home environment as a child, and his own personal experience of faith.

These songs were a source of inner strength that supported Elvis throughout his career. It is a known fact that Elvis always had a great desire to perform a complete Gospel concert, but he never got to do it.

In the presentation of the "He Touched Me" Gospel concert, it is Randy's sincere hope that it will not be received as just pure entertainment, but rather that it will be recognized as Randy's own expression of a faith in God, and a spiritual dimension within him, that comes from a personal relationship with Christ.

As a tribute to Elvis, the Gospel Concert that he never got to perform, is now being presented to you by Randy 'Elvis' Friskie.
