There are currently proposals to run smallbore rimfire benchrest (.22LR) matches. This might be expanded to include a class for .22WMR and .17HMR rifles – a rimfire Varmint class bench rest match. Several different .22LR rifle classes are being considered. There are no current plans to join one of the official sanctioning SB benchrest match organizations but this remains a definite possibility. Any ideas, help or input would be greatly appreciated.

In addition, there is some interest in running service rifle prone style matches using the long-range high power silhouette rifle range. Again, nothing yet firm or definite is scheduled. Any input or ideas will be happily received.
